PUBLISHER'S NOTE.

The following paper was read by Mr. Blake at a meeting of The Worcester Society of Antiquity, held May 6th, 1884, and is reprinted from the Proceedings of that Society. The facts which it presents, most of them heretofore unpublished or undiscovered, afford information of interest and importance relating to the first settlements of Worcester ; and they are offered, at this time, as an appropriate contribution to the early history of the town.

INCIDENTS

OF THE

FIRST AND SECOND SETTLEMENTS OF WORCESTER.

The design of this paper is simply to bring to the notice of the public some facts relating to the early history of Worcester which have never been published, but which appear to be worthy of preservation.

It is evident that the sources of information concerning the first and second, and even the third settlements of this town, have not been exhausted by historians ; and that there exists to-day, a large amount of material possessing interest and value, awaiting the labor of some enthusiastic investigator.

The present facilities for such investigation, render the labor comparatively light, as the records and files of papers in the various public offices of the State are much more accessible than they were forty years ago, and generally are in better condition. It is not to be inferred, however, from this remark, that all of our public records are in good order ; for it is a fact that some are still in a lamentable condition of disorder and decay, and under the charge of officials who care but little or nothing for their preservation.

Those who are conversant with the history of the first settlement of this place, are aware that Ephraim Curtis, of Sudbury, claiming rights by virtue of a purchase from the heirs of Thomas Noyes, took possession of a large tract of land in the heart of the plantation, and erected thereon a house. This location so seriously interfered with the plans of the Committee in laying out the plantation, that in May, 1674, they with the Proprietors, applied to the General Court for relief, which was afforded by allowing Mr. Curtis to retain only fifty acres within the town, giving him an equivalent elsewhere for his remaining rights.

This decision of the Court was the occasion of two law suits. It appears that Mr. Curtis had already sold two hundred acres of these lands to his brother John, who, not being able to take possession, brought suit in December, 1674, against Ephraim "for not making good his bargain & Sale." The result was a verdict for the plaintiff, with £40 damages and costs. In April, 1675, Mr. Curtis entered a suit against Mrs. Mary Bacon (formerly Widow Noyes) "for not making good the title of 250 acres laid out to John Norton & sold to Ephraim Curtis" by her as executrix of her former husband, Thomas Noyes. This suit Mr. Curtis also lost.

Among the papers connected with the latter case, (now in Middlesex Court files) is a copy of the petition of the Committee and Proprietors to the General Court in May, 1674, above referred to, and also an attested copy of a personal letter from Major Gookin, one of the Committee, to Mr. Curtis. As Mr. Curtis has had the credit of being the first settler in the town, this letter possesses considerable interest, not only in showing the determination of Major Gookin (and presumably that of all the Committee) that Mr. Curtis should not under any circumstances be allowed to locate the whole of his purchase within the bounds of the town, but also in establishing the fact that he was not the first to erect a house there.

The letter is as follows :

"Ephraym Curtes

"I Reced your letter and pervsed the Reccords about your clayme of land beyond the old fort at Quantsegamond I finde that you haue a deed from widdow noyce of two parcells of land thereabouts dated Ann<sup>o</sup> 1670 the one of two hundred and fiuety Acres granted to Thomas Noyes the other two hundred and fiuety acres granted to Mr. Norton and Assigned first to m<sup>r</sup> John Payne and after to m<sup>r</sup> Noyes and by his widdow sold to you as aboue Again I finde m<sup>r</sup>. "That what is on the other side of this written is a true Copie Compared wth the originall letter (so signed & Sup<sup>r</sup>scribed) produced in the Generall Court in may last & therewith compared is Attested by Edward Rawson Secrety"

Notwithstanding the fact that this attested copy gives the date as the 8th of the 8th month, 1675, we find that the copy was used in evidence in the County Court in April, 1675, while the original was so used in the General Court in May, 1674. The whole tenor of the letter also goes to establish the fact, that it was written before the action of the Court in June, 1674, and hence there can be no doubt that the original was dated 1673, October 8.

As has been stated, the Court sustained Mr. Gookin and the Committee, and Mr. Curtis was obliged to yield to the "publick interest."

There appears nothing upon the Proprietors' or other records to indicate the progress of the settlement during the years 1673 and 1674, and it is presumed that the number of actual settlers was small. The necessity, however, of a public house for entertainment of travellers became apparent, and the Committee made the following request of the County Court.

"wee whose names Are underwritten, being a comittee of the Generall Court for Setling and ordering a new plantation, neere Quandsicamond pond in the Road way from Boston to Koneticut, haue (for diuers Reasons) given our approbation that Thomas Browne of Cambridge haueing built a house there do keepe an Inne or ordinary in that place & wee desire the Honored County
 Court of midesex to giue him Licence so to doe also to furnise
 Trauelers w<sup>h</sup> wine & strong watters obseruing the Rules therein directed by the Lawes, wittnes o<sup>r</sup> Hands this Second of December 1674

Daniel Gookin Sen<sup>r</sup>

'Thomas prentis

D Henchman"

In compliance with this request the Court on the 15th of December, 1674, granted a licence to 'Thomas Browne to "keep an ordinary at Quansigamond Plantaceon."

This record, besides giving us the name of the first innholder of the settlement, establishes the fact that Mr. Browne had built his house and settled there at that date.

The "smale house" mentioned by Major Gookin, with that of Mr. Curtis and this of Mr. Browne, are the only houses of which we have found any record evidence previous to April, 1675, when the first survey of lots was made ; but there can be little doubt that several others had been erected.

At what date the second settlement of the town actually commenced does not clearly appear, although it is evident that some of the Proprietors were on the spot in February or March, 1684, and very probably had passed the winter there.

The following order issued by the County Court, April 1st, 1684, indicates that the settlement was fairly in progress at that time.

"Whereas the Plantation of Quinsicamund hath some Inhabitants already there, & it being at least ten miles distant from the nearest English Towne, w<sup>ch</sup> is too far to travail up on the Sabbath day to the Worship of God ; And for as much as the Committee of the Gen<sup>l</sup> Court for that place, viz<sup>t</sup> Majo<sup>r</sup> Gookin Esq<sup>r</sup> Capt

Daniel Hinchman and Capt Thomas Prentice have applied themselves to this Court desiring that order may pass this Court, requiring the people there living to meet together on the Lords day to worship God.

It is ordered by this Court that the people of the place do constantly meet together on the Sabbath days to celebrate the worship of God in the best manner they can at p'sent, & untill they do encrease to such a number as that they may be capable to call & meinteyn a learned pious & orthodox minister, as they will answer their neglect at their perill.

"And Capt Daniel Hinchman is requested & authorized by this Court to take speciall care to prevent the prophanation of the Sabbath day by neglect hereof."

At the same time this order for the spiritual welfare of the settlement was made, the Court passed upon another matter of entirely different character. The record is as follows :

"Nathaniel Hinchman is licensed and allowed to keep a house of entertainm<sup>t</sup> for Travailers at Quinsicamond for a year next ensuing. Also he is allowed to sell & furnish Travailers or Inhabitants with Rhum or other strong waters in Bottles of a Pint or Quart. But not to retayl any in his house or suffer Tipling there."

This Nathaniel Hinchman, the first innholder of the second settlement, was a son of Capt. Daniel Hinchman, and at this date was but twenty-two years old. Whether he had a house of his own, or his father's house served for the inn does not appear ; but no grants of land were made to the son at that time. The location of the father's house is understood to have been north of Lincoln square, near where the freight house of the Worcester and Nashua railroad stands.*

By June, 1684, the settlement had so far advanced as to require the appointment of a constable, fence viewer, and hogreeve, as appears by the orders of Court :

*The Middlesex Court Records furnish the names of a few other licensed innholders, but all belonging to later years, viz.: James Rice, 1718; John Hubbard, 1720, 21, 23, 24, 28-30; William Jennison, 1726, 28, 30; Robert Grey, 1728, 29.

"17, 4, 1684. At the motion & desire of the Comittee of y<sup>e</sup> plantaceon of Quansicamund. This Court doth order that — Weeks be constable for y<sup>t</sup> plantaceon for one year next ensuing & that he have all the pow<sup>r</sup> of a Constable as the law directs & Capt Daniel Hinchman is impowred to give S<sup>d</sup> Constable his Oath."*

"And — Allerton is appoynted to inspect the fences & order about swine in s<sup>d</sup> plantaceon for one year. And this order to direct the affair untill by y<sup>e</sup> law the s<sup>d</sup> Towne or plantaceon be capable to choose Towne officers according to law."

The only other local officer during this period, to whom reference has been found, is the clerk of the town. In Middlesex Deeds, vol. 13, page 294, is a record of land belonging to George Ripley, upon which "said Ripley built a house & Barne," which record is attested, May 21, 1688, as a "true Copy out of the first Book of records Kept for the Town of Worster by me John Wing Clarke Chosen by the Inhabitants there."†

In the Court files of Middlesex County are a number of papers relating to a suit of George Danson against Capt. John Wing and others in December, 1685.‡ An examination of these papers brings to light many facts connected with the history of Worcester at that period ; and as both Danson and Wing were prominent land proprietors in the town, a statement of the case, with some items relating to the personal history of the two litigants, appears desirable.

Capt. John Wing, a mariner, was for many years a resident of Boston. He was one of the founders of the Old South Church there, in 1669, an officer in the Artillery Company, active in business affairs of the town, and keeper of the "Castle Tavern." This well known inn, subsequently called the "George," was situated at the corner of the present Elm street and Dock square, and was often honored by the presence of the Magistrates, Divines, and Military Men of the day. Many references to Capt. Wing and his tavern appear in the Journal of Judge Sewall, for instance: "Deputies treated me at Wing's after lecture"; and under date of Sabbath, Dec. 4, 1687: "In the Even Capt. Eliot, Frary, Williams & Self Treat with Brother Wing about his Setting a Room in his House for a man to Shew Tricks in. He Saith, seeing 'tis offensive, he will remedy it. It seems the Room is fitted with Seats. I read what Dr. Ames saith of Callings, and spake as I could from this Principle, that the man's Practice was unlawfull, and therefore Capt. Wing could not lawfully give him accomodation for it. Sung the 90th Ps. from the 12th v. to the end. Broke up."

* Mr. William Weeks was a housewright, and with his wife Jane (or Joan) sold his land "with the Dwelling House thereon" in 1686, to Isaac Bull, housewright, for £10.

† This record is not found in the Proprietors' Book.

‡ Among these papers are two certified copies of the agreement made by the Committee with Capt. Hinchman in 1684, by means of which the somewhat imperfect copy in the Proprietors' Records can be made complete.

In October, 1684, Capt. Wing was appointed a member of the committee having charge of the plantation of Quinsigamond, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the death of Capt. Beers.* Several months before this he had become interested in the town, and early in 1685, he was admitted as an inhabitant and became proprietor of several tracts of land therein. Previous to March of that year he had erected a house, and in that month commenced the building of his mills, which local historians affirm to have been the first mills in the township, though they do not fix the date of erection.

*The Court Records so have it, but the original order on file shows that Adam Winthrop was confirmed as a member of the committee, Oct. 17, 1684, and four days after, the Magistrates "Judge meete to Add Capt Wing to bee of this Comittee." (State Archives, vol. 112, page 370.)

There is something singular about the order of Court, 1684, adding Capt. Wing to the committee. The Court Record shows only Wing added, while the original paper (copy annexed) shows Winthrop and Wing. Winthrop was one of the committee in 1685, but there is nothing in the records to show his appointment. I question if Wing was appointed to "fill vacancy occasioned by death of Beers," as has been stated by others, and is in fact so recorded in the Court Records.

The following is a copy of the petition and order for the naming of the town, and the appointment of Winthrop and Wing:—

In the general agreement made by the Committee with Capt. Henchman for the distribution of land in the township, three lots were to be granted to "the builders & mainteyners of a Saw milne," and the like number for a "grist milne." A grant was made to Capt. Wing of "6 lots for his mills," and all the facts which have come to our notice indicate that he erected both saw and grist mills in 1685, although this conclusion does not agree with that of some of your historians. He appears to have carried on his mill business in Worcester, and his "wine tavern" in Boston at the same time, besides attending to much public business of both towns. His services to the new township were many and varied; in fact it is surmised that, in the language of this day, he "run the town" after the death of Capt. Henchman. These services appear to have been appreciated by his fellow townsmen, as will hereafter be shown.

Whether Capt. Wing attempted to keep an inn also in Worcester, or whether after his death, his house was occupied for that purpose, may possibly be determined after further investigation. Judge Sewall records concerning a journey to Springfield in 1716: "Din'd at Capt. Wings old house in Worcester: writt to Mr. Parris at Rice's eat Roast Turkey near Strawberry Hill. I eat mine at Sarah Stebbings. Got to Brookfield a little after sunset."

Wing appears to have been in Worcester in 1692, but in 1693 he was at Pemaquid as one of the commissioners to treat with the Eastern Indians. (See Mass. Archives, vol. 30, page 339.)

His death occurred in 1702, and by his will probated in Boston in March, 1702/3, he left his "Frame House and Land in Worcester with four hundred acres on the west side of the river & running to the north pond & northerly to the top of Prospect Hill," to his son Cord, who subsequently conveyed all rights to Messrs. Palmer, Oulton & others. The inventory of his estate in Worcester showed—*

"Housing & Land	£100
Stock of value of	21
household goods	6
Sundry Irons for mills and husbandry	30
Armes	3 10"

His estate in Boston was of much greater value, but his property was somewhat involved by various judgments outstanding. In fact he appears to have had considerable knowledge of the vexation attending law suits, for as late as November, 1702, he asked the General Court for an act to review his case with a Capt. Bant, stating the results of several trials, and asserting that he had "always had Extreame hard measure in y<sup>e</sup> premises, the said Bant having fee'd all the Attornies but one in the Country; and some times yo<sup>r</sup> pet<sup>r</sup> could hardly get that one, a day or two before the Tryall," &c.

* In 1712 his estate was appraised at "£152. 17. & ½ penny weight, not allowing anything for the housing being gone to decay." (Middlesex Deeds, vol. 16, page 207.)

There are other interesting items concerning Capt. Wing, the "leading man" of Worcester in 1685, but this must suffice for the present purpose.

George Danson, a Quaker, and a "loaf bread baker" of Boston, was also in 1685 a proprietor of lands north of the "Citadell" and of Capt. Wing's, west of the Mill Brook, extending to North Pond.

What induced Mr. Danson, an old man as he then was, to go to Worcester, does not fully appear ; but if he, as a baker, had an eye to the improvement of the water power for a grist mill, (and appearances indicate that project) his plans were completely frustrated, for his final grants effectually forbid him from interfering with the water privileges of his neighbor, Capt. Wing, who had previously secured the most desirable spot for his own mills.

Mr. Danson erected a house upon his lots, though it may be questioned if he, himself, passed much time in the town. The location of his house is indicated upon a plan of his land which I have discovered in the State Archives, [Vol. 112, page 421.] a copy of which is deposited with this Society ; and I have no doubt that the spot thus occupied can be definitely determined by one familiar with Worcester topography.

Danson's life had not been an uneventful one, though differing greatly from that of his neighbor, Capt. Wing. In 1674, while living in Middleborough, he was fined forty shillings "for doeing Seruill worke on the Lords day" ; and before another year he lost his house by fire and removed to Boston, the Boston Town Records stating, November 25, 1675 : "George Danson & his wife quakers haueinge a house burnt at Midleborowe in Plymouth patent lodgeth at John Warrens." With three other loaf bread bakers of Boston, in 1679 he appealed to the authorities for relief from oppressive regulations concerning the weight and price of bread.

In the State Archives is a petition of Mr. Danson written in the year 1677, describing both himself and wife as "antient," and respectfully, yet pathetically, asking permission to retain in their household an Indian woman, whose services, under their instruction, had become of some value to them. Twice was he whipped in Boston, for attending religious services of the Quakers in 1677.

By his will, probated in 1692, he gave his house and five hundred acres of land in Worcester to his wife, and made bequests to his grandchildren, George, Charles and Elisabeth Crosweight, a name appearing as Creswait in the Proprietors' Records of Worcester.

The inventory of his estate shows that he was possessed of considerable property, which included a large stock of dry goods and other wares, indicating the character of the merchandise considered in those days necessary for such a business. There is but little in the inventory to suggest the trade of a baker, which business, however, may have been surrendered for that of a merchant or general trader.

From these imperfect sketches of Capt. Wing and Mr. Danson we will proceed to the controversy between them.

In the case of Danson vs. Wing, the Court Records, under date of Dec. 15, 1685, recite that "S'd Wing & confederators did on the 2<sup>d</sup> of this instant October violently set upon & assault the Plaintiff as he was laying out some parcells of land at the Towne of Worcester in the Coun- of Middlesex that the pl purchased of & was granted unto him by Capt. Daniel Henchman" &c.; and "ordring his man to cut the bound marks & violently taking away the Surveyors Chaine who was imployed by the Pl. so disappointing them & defaming the Pls title, the Damage the Pl. hath susteyned being about Twenty pounds mony with all due damages according to attachm<sup>t</sup> dat. in Boston Octob<sup>r</sup>. 9, 1685." &c.

At the same time there was entered a suit of Danson vs. George Pyke, Thomas Hall, Caleb Sawyer, Charles Williams and John Turner, in which the plaintiff alleged that the defendants did "sett upon & assault the pl. as he was laying out a parcell or parcells of land at the Towne of Worcester . . . driving the pl. & his survey<sup>or</sup> & the persons imployed by him from the s<sup>d</sup> work, & breaking his Chaine, cutting out bound marks" &c.

In both cases the defendants claimed that the plaintiff could prosecute on one count only, either for assault or for defamation of title, and this being allowed by the Court, the plaintiff chose the latter, (perhaps unfortunately) and lost both cases, the verdict in the first case being for defendant, with costs "Two pounds Eighteen & a groat"; and in the second, with costs "one pound fifteen & Eight pence." The testimony bearing upon the alleged assault, and also that in reference to the title, is quite voluminous, but some abstracts may not be uninteresting.

The land in question was on the west side of the Mill Brook, near the North Pond, Danson claiming the land between the pond and Wing's on the south. The location of Capt. Wing's mills is generally considered to have been on the west side of Mill Brook, north of Lincoln square.

In regard to the assault, David Fiske, the surveyor, "aged 62 yeares or thereabouts," testified "that he was hyred by George Danson to survey some land at Worcester being so ordered by Capt. Daniel Henchman," that "George Pyke violently broke y<sup>or</sup> Deponents Chaine w<sup>ch</sup> Chaine so broke cost y<sup>or</sup> Deponent Eight Shill: in money, the which disappointed me yo<sup>r</sup> Deponent in my whole Journey which was four days besides my damages for want of s<sup>d</sup> chaine, for which foure days George Danson hath paid me for, being seven shill 7<sup>p</sup> day," &c.

Nathaniel Henchman (the licensed innholder) gave similar testimony, as did Digory Sargent, whose name is familiar to all conversant with the early history of the town.

Mr. Fiske, Mr. Henchman and Samuel Daniel also testified that Capt. Wing, Thomas Hall and George Pyke interfered while they were measuring Danson's land, and "cutt out the marks & took hold the Chaine we measured wth & so by force stopped o<sup>r</sup> work that day & the next day Geo. pyke Caleb Sawyer Charles Williams & John Turner came & say<sup>d</sup> they would stop us of o<sup>r</sup> work & s<sup>d</sup> George Pyke lay<sup>d</sup> violent hold of o<sup>r</sup> Chaine & broke it in pieces & carryed away part of it."

This abstract of the testimony appears to be a fair statement of the alleged assault upon Mr. Danson in October, 1685, in this town. But this little affair was not the first instance (nor the last) of a breeze between the same parties—the "Captain" and the "Baker"—and the remaining evidence may be of more interest.

George Pyke and Thomas Hall, two of the defendants, testified "that in month of March 1685 or nere thervnto they were present with Capt<sup>n</sup> Daniel HENCHMAN at Capt<sup>n</sup> John WINGS House in Worcester & did there heare him the S<sup>d</sup> HENCHMAN say that this Land now in controversey betwixt Geo. Danson & Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing he had promised it to Cap<sup>m</sup> Wing & that noe body should c[ome] betwixt him & the north pond to take the water from him because of his mills which were then in building & since finished * & that it was beneath him Cap<sup>t</sup> HENCHMAN to grant [any] other man land there to do Mr. Wing such an injury who [had] done soe great good to the town. And we heard mr Wing say to Danson I am called by you black dog at Boston what am I now, to which mr Danson say<sup>d</sup> you rogue Ile make you know this is my Land get you off it & held up an ax with the edge towards mr. Wing he saying I hope you will not strike to which Danson answered noe, & sayd I am [not] afraid of you & mr Wing sayd I am not afraid of you. Then sayd the Surveyer with his compas in his hand I hope Cap<sup>n</sup> Wing you will not hinder mee noe sayd Cap<sup>n</sup> Wing Ile let you have the Chaine & then they mr Wing & Danson Shooke hands & bid each other [good] night lovingly after they had walked about and [ ] together. 15-10-85"

Mr. Hall also testified that "at Prospect meadow he heard Capt Daniel HENCHMAN say vnto Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing you know it was my mind all waies that you should have this land & I did doe what lay in my power to hinder Danson from it but none other Land would serve him & he would have none other & more Cap<sup>t</sup> HENCHMAN being after at my house & also betwixt Lancaster & Worcester did say that the sd Land was Cap<sup>t</sup> WINGS & now let him doe his parte to lay it out for he Cap<sup>t</sup> HENCHMAN say<sup>d</sup> he had done his parte & would do noe more on that side the River & those last words were spoke in squash time about the beginning of July last. And Cap<sup>t</sup> HENCHMAN say<sup>d</sup> when I asked him why he hindered the Surveyer in Laying s<sup>d</sup> Lands vnto Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing formerly, he answered me that I would hinder him from it but to hinder the town from buzzing about my eares say<sup>d</sup> mr Henchman. And I have heard the s<sup>d</sup> Danson say in threatning manner he would have my eares & that Rogue Pyke Ile have him whipt & Ile hinder the Rogues from giueing in testimony for Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing."

*This determines the date when the building of the mills was begun, as March, 1685; Wing's house was evidently built before that time.

If the alleged statement of Mr. Henchman is correctly interpreted, it confirms the impression that the people of the town were ready to side with Capt. Wing, and that Henchman was afraid of the "buzzing" which might result from any action favorable to Mr. Danson.

"John Turner doth testify that in may last he was travelling betwixt Quansuggamond Pond & Captaine Henchman his house with him & I speaking to him if the Land on the right hand of us were taken up to which he answered yes, then I asked him if I might have a Lot on the Westerly side of the river betwixt Capt Wings house & the north pond to which Cap<sup>t</sup> Henchman did answer I could not have land there because it was aloted or graunted to Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing hoame to the north pond & this Land in Controversy betwixt Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing & George Danson is a parte of that Land mr Henchman sayd was granted to mr Wing as before"

Digory Sargeant gave similar testimony, adding that Henchman said "I am exceedingly greived because Samuel Daniel hath shewed the abovsd Land vnto the s<sup>d</sup> Danson, & none other Land now will content him but that for I had rally granted it to Cap<sup>t</sup> Wing & jntended it for him And I heard mr Wing say to mr Henchman when we were goeing to laying it out to George Danson you granted it to mee, & in ffebruary or march last I heard Cap<sup>t</sup> Henchman say he had disposed of all the lotts except one & rather than that should make a difference he would lay down ten shillings & take it to himself"

Peter Goulding's testimony was "that at a meeting of all the Comittee men for Worcester he did declare vnto them that one hindrance of peopling that place (as he thought) was the late granting soe much land to wit twenty lots to George Danson to which Major Generall Gookin sayed with his consent he the Sd Danson Shall have but halfe his 20 house lots nere the town & the rest remote."

William Weeks, the constable testified that "in february or nere that time 1683/4* there was a parcell of Land in Worcester nere Prospect hill designed for Cap<sup>m</sup> Wing which he did not like off, then I spoke to Cap<sup>m</sup> Henchman & sayed that Cap<sup>m</sup> Wing did not like of that land to which Cap<sup>m</sup> Henchman sayed then he shall take his land where he will & quickly after Cap<sup>m</sup> Wing & this Deponent & George Pyke went vp to the north pond & from theare we turned by Prospect hill, & tryed the land as we went, then sayed m<sup>r</sup> Wing this is the land I intend to take vp all on the western side of the river vnto the north pond. & a little after I went to Cpt<sup>n</sup> Henchman for a grant of Land for me as he had promised it there. Then he told me I could not have it, Cap<sup>m</sup> Wing had taken it vp I must get it elsewhere."

George Ripley, "aged near forty one yeares," testified in relation to a contract made by himself, Samuel Daniel and Matthew Tomly [Tomlin] with Mr. Danson, to "get fit and set up" fifteen "Score rodds of fffence," for which they were to be paid at the rate of fifteen pence per rod.

These papers bring to notice quite a number of the inhabitants of the town in 1684 and 1685.

There is some evidence tending to show that in June, 1683, there was discussion among the Committee about limiting Capt. Henchman in laying out lots, but Mr. Henchman opposed such action. It is quite apparent that there was not perfect harmony between the Committee and Capt. Henchman in regard to his distribution of lands; and at the time of this trial, two of the Committee, Messrs. Prentice and Winthrop, sent a message "to signify vnto this Honorable County Court & Jury that wee doe dissent from & disallow of the largenes of the grant of Land there vnto George Danson & also of his haveing any Land to be layed out there on the westerly side of the river betwixt Cap<sup>m</sup> Wings house & houselot & the north pond & we have heard Cap<sup>m</sup> Henchman say he intended that land for mr Wing."

* These statements show conclusively that Capt. Wing became interested in Worcester lands early in 1684. Mr. Weeks and Mr. Pyke had evidently already settled there.

This testimony showing Capt. Henschman's promise of the land in question to Capt. Wing, was met by the plaintiff with an affidavit of Capt. Henschman himself, who was then lying at the "point of death" in his house at Worcester. This interesting document is as follows :

"Worcester Octo. 5th. 85.

"Recived of mr. Danson five pounds ten shilings for eleven Lotts in Worcester and nine Lotts which he bought of severall persons and have delivered me the assignments of them in all twenty Lotts And he chose his planting Lotts to be Layed out next Cap<sup>t</sup> Wings planting Lotts which land piched uppon by him I ha<sup>ve</sup> not disposed of to any other person or promised the same uppon any other account to any : or was it in my power So to do And the molesta- tion given him by Capt Wing is unjust This I testifie as one at the Point of deth the Riteous God knoweth I speake the truth.

"Witnes David ffiske

"D Henschman"

Nathaniel Henschman"

Mr. Fiske swore that he saw Mr. Henschman sign this, and the son, Nathaniel, deposed "having written it from his mouth. He being of perfect understanding then, & to ye day of his Death."

Mr. Danson was very fortunate in securing this acknowledgment, as Capt. Henschman's death occurred ten days after : Oct. 15, 1685.

Concerning this death, Judge Sewall says in his diary : "Monday, Oct. 19, 1685 About nine oclock at night News comes to Town of Capt. Henschman's Death at Worcester last Thursday : buried on Friday : Very few at his Funeral, his own Servants, a white and black, carried him to, and put him in his Grave. His Wife and children following and no more, or but one or two more."*

* In settlement of Capt. Henschman's estate there is an item of "Funerall charges £16. 3. 10." The inventory shows : "House, stock and goods in ye Country prised by James Ford and Is : Bull 49. 03. 00."

life, should, in this quiet village, be laid away in the grave, with scarcely one beside his family present, seems a pathetic ending of a busy and useful life. We have queried if his connection with the granting of land to Mr. Danson had not so offended the settlers as to keep them away from the last funeral rites.

The settlers were evidently on the side of Capt. Wing, and were strongly opposed to any abridgment of his rights on the mill stream. This is more clearly shown by the following statement subscribed to by ten persons, comprising, as they affirm, the majority of the inhabitants of the town at that time. It is, we believe, the earliest list of actual settlers that has been found, and is, perhaps, the most interesting of the papers here presented. It will be noticed that it is dated but one day before the trial, and was evidently prepared at short notice.

 the lists of inhabitants.

The following letter of Major Gookin is of interest in this connection :

“Charlest. Court 15. 10. 1685.

“Attest Jonath Remington Cler.”

The testimony of Capt. HENCHMAN is utterly unreconcilable with that of the many witnesses ; but it is not our province to decide the rights of the case.

Whatever were the promises of Capt. HENCHMAN, who, as we understand it, had full power in the disposition of the land, Mr. Danson secured the property by paying the price and obtaining Mr. HENCHMAN's acknowledgment of his title.

Capt. Wing, however, could not rest quietly, and on the 20th of the following July, (1686) he, with two others, for the third time interfered with the surveyor who was measuring Mr. Danson's land, breaking his chain, &c. Within a few days of this last assault, the Committee appointed by the President and Council to confirm lands in Worcester, gave Mr. Danson a full confirmation of his title, warning all persons to refrain from molesting him in his possession, or the surveyor in his work.

In this deed of Aug. 2, 1686, (Middlesex Registry, vol. 10, page 132) the Committee say that by "our candid dealings" with Capt. Wing, "we apprehended he was Satisfyed & would make no further interruption tending to the hindrance or disturbance of other grantees," &c. ; but in this they were mistaken, as has been stated.

This confirmation to Mr. Danson was then recorded on the books of the Proprietors, with the stipulation, however, that he should not "erect any corne mil or Saw mill vpon the mil Brook," or in any way interfere with Capt. Wing's privileges on the stream.

When Gov. Andros declared all lands granted under former governments forfeited to the Crown, Mr. Danson to make sure of his title to the lands for which he had labored so hard, petitioned the Government for confirmation, which was granted after notice to Capt. Wing, and the plan previously referred to was returned by the surveyor.

Thus was ended a controversy which must have caused a great commotion in the little settlement, furnishing for many months a lively topic for conversation. At the time of the trial it is evident that the larger part of the inhabitants went down to Charlestown, returning home, doubtless, with satisfaction at Capt. Wing's partial victory.

In connection with the trials the bills of costs are of considerable interest, as all the witnesses were obliged to attend in person, there being "noe pson impowered betwixt that place & this Court to take their oathes."

One of the items in the bill rendered by Messrs. Pyke and Hall is as follows : "Theire owne comeing from Worcester 43 miles from Court 2 dayes comeing & 2 dayes of Hendrance & 2 dayes to goe hoame thither at 2<sup>s</sup>  $\frac{1}{2}$  day is £1 : 04 : 00." The Court, however, allowed payment for only one day's travel each way.

Following are the full bills of costs :

Capt. Wing seems to have gained possession of all of these lands upon the Mill Brook after the death of Mr. Danson, but by what means or at what date has not been determined. In 1712, his heirs gave to Thomas Palmer and others deeds of release covering more than one thousand acres of land in Worcester.

The following petition without date, but written about the year 1687, serves to give an idea of the condition of the town at that period.

"To his Excellency S<sup>r</sup> Edmond Andros K<sup>t</sup> Capt Generall and Governour in cheife of his Maj<sup>ties</sup> Territory and Dominion of New England——

"The Humble Petition of John Wing in behalfe of himselfe and the rest of the Inhabitants of the Towne of Worster in New England

"Sheweth,

"That the said Inhabitants by reason of their Late settling said Towne being a new Plantation have spent their Stocks to the utmost in their improvements thereon and notwithstanding the same have not had before this yeare a supply from the Ground for Bread Corne for their sustenation, by which means they are much Fallen into debt for their necessary Provision and are reduced to a low and meane condition. And Forasmuch as it hath been the antient Custome of the Former Governm<sup>t</sup> for encouragem<sup>t</sup> of young Plantations to Remitt them there rates for three or foure yeares after settlement thereof.

soon after the above named Downing<sup>a</sup> wife came to Boston and by Cap<sup>ne</sup> Wings procurement obtained an order from his Ex<sup>cy</sup> for his takeing the command of the Town which he sayth is very much resented by the Inhabitants, said Downing being a stranger, but newly come thither and of no good Report. He further adds that if all the Inhabitants should be drawn into Cap<sup>ne</sup> Wing<sup>s</sup> Garrison, they cannot possibly subsist, it being so remote from their own dwellings and ffields where their business lyes, And that they have neer halfe finished another good Garrison, very conveniently seated, and w<sup>ch</sup> will better accommodate them :

“The young man seems to be very modest and discreet, and thinks that he and his fellow Souldiers sent from Chelmsford &c are imposed on to be put under y<sup>e</sup> Command of Downing, who was m<sup>r</sup> Lidgetts Coachman, and possibly may be known to some of the Gent<sup>n</sup>. with you.

This letter was undoubtedly written by Thomas Allerton, whose name often appears in the town records as Atherton. The second signature is possibly lauorson [Lawson?]; the fourth and fifth are indistinct and undecipherable, but were probably intended for the same name, and may be read George Ripley.

In connection with these papers, another of later date is appropriately inserted here.

The sum of "£ 1. 14." was allowed by the Council to "Alexander Bogel for Seventeen Daies Labor in Building a ffortification at Worcester."

There are many records of conveyances of real estate in Worcester to be found in the Middlesex Registry. In a number of instances reference is made to dwelling houses, barns, fruit trees, &c., all of which are interesting in determining the date of settlement or erection of buildings by the several inhabitants. A portion of these have been copied, but space will not permit their introduction here.

Among other items which have come under my observation are the following relating to the town at a later period.

In the Records of the Court of General Sessions the following "cautions" are found :

March 10, 1723-4. "Caution against William Hambleton from Brookfield "

Aug. 25, 1730. "Caution against Mary Wheeler from Sudbury Aug. 5 "

In the same Records from 1718 to 1726, several presentments appear against the town for neglect in keeping bridges and roads in order.

Dec. 12, 1727, the record appears : "The Selectmen of Worcester appearing in Court to answer to the presentment of the Grand Jurors for neglecting to maintain a writing Schoolmaster in Worcester aforesaid for the Instruction of Youth they haveing been fully heard are dismissed paying fees & costs."

During the Indian troubles in the years 1724 and '25, Worcester shared in the general alarm felt throughout the frontier settlements, especially in Worcester County, and measures were taken for the protection and safety of the people.

In the Council Records appears the following, July 18, 1724 :

"Read & Advised that His Honour the Lieu<sup>t</sup>. Governour order a Sergeant & Eight men to be posted at the Town of Worcester for the Protection of the Inhabitants in their Harvest."

The following petition was presented in May, 1725. (Massachusetts Archives, vol. 52, page 163.)

"To his Honour The Lieu<sup>t</sup> Governour, and Comander In Chief In and over his Majesties Province of the Massachusetts Bay In New England—the Petition of the Subscribers Humbly Sheweth

"Whereas The Town of Worcester is very much Exposed to the Indian Rebels in the present War: there being a great distance between the Towns of Lanchester and Rutland, in which we Ly open to the Enemy; we do therefore (at the desire of the princeaple part of our Inhabitants) humbly lay our Diffaculties before Your Honour Earnestly Intreating, that you would be pleased in your great wisdom so far to Commizerate oure Distresed state, as to send us some soldiars to strengthen our Front Garrison's and scout our wood's, othewise we Fear the sad effects that may hapen, there being no scout in our woods or soldiers to Guard our Defenceable places, or Inhabitants most Exposed, And very much Disheartened by Reason of the Present Danger they Apprehend them selves to be in, and if your Honour will be pleased to send us som Reliefe, it will be a means to cause our Front Garrisons to keep theire stations; otherwise we Humbly conceive that it is morally Impossible they should, And for which great priviledge To Your Honours poor petitioners (as in Duty Bound) shall Ever Pray

In answer to this request the Council advised that a corporal and six men be sent to Worcester, and the following month advised that a "Recruit of 3 men" be sent there.
